An ADT Medical Alert system is not an intrusion detection system or medical device; ADT is not a '911' emergency medical response service and does not provide medical advice, which should be obtained from qualified medical personnel. Digital cellular service not available everywhere or at all times. The On-The-Go emergency system and services use and rely on the availability of cellular network coverage and the availability of global positioning system (GPS) data to operate properly.

*Fall detection monitoring service is only available with Medical Alert Plus and On-The-Go Emergency Response systems. Fall detection pendant does not detect 100% of falls.

Dear Hattie Albecker,

Last month ADT attended the National Indian Council On Aging, (NICOA), American Indian Elders Conference in Sparks, NV. For those of you who attended and stopped by our booth, we want to thank you for doing so. ADT was happy to exhibit and have the opportunity to meet the delegates during that week. It was their 23rd Conference on Aging In Indian Country. "Resilience for Tomorrow...Together" was the theme of the conference. This is the only national aging conference in the country focusing exclusively on the needs of American Indian and Alaska Native elders. So, we were excited to engage the participants and learn how ADT can contribute to the health and wellbeing of the many Native American elders.

As we look ahead for tomorrow and begin to prepare for Q4 and beyond we are taking stock of what needs to be completed. Likewise, you are probably looking at how your tribe's Health department can better serve your Elders. We have two exciting technologies to complement your health services: Medical Alert and Medication Reminder System

If Medical Alert Systems are of interest, we invite you to consider ADT professionally monitored, personal emergency response systems with these important features:

- Landline and cellular-based systems, in-home or mobile systems, with optional fall detection and GPS tracking capabilities
- 2-way voice communications with our monitoring professionals
- ADT owned monitoring response services; featuring specially trained agents and "world class" Net-Promoter Scores (NPS).
- Peace of mind that comes with knowing help is just a push of a button away

In addition to medical alert systems, we are introducing the MedReady Medication Reminder Systems. Now your health department can provide two very important safety and wellbeing services to your Elders. Technology assisting in medication adherence and the ability to assess an emergency is a key aspect to keeping your Elders safe and compliant to their care plans. Let's set up a time to discuss how ADT can work with your program.
