Legislative Overtime

With the budgets and several priority bills still in play, Legislators are taking a short break this weekend to recharge for what is shaping to be an extended session.

Some Bills Still "In Play"

Some bills the House and Senate have identified as priorities to pass this session in addition to the budget bills are progressing through the process:

"Education Funding Act"

HB 115 passed the House this week and has been assigned to the Senate Labor and Commerce committee. There will be three opportunities for public testimony on this bill next week.

Permanent Fund Restructure

SB 26 Passed the Senate and was sent to the House this March. The House then amended the bill substituting, CSSB 26 which they sent back to the Senate. The Senate did not conquer with this amendment, nor has the House receded it. The next step will be for these differences to be sorted out in a Conference committee when one is created.

Oil & Gas Credit Reform

HB 111 passed the House last week under a substitute version, CSHB 111. The bill is currently in Senate Resources with several hearings scheduled next week.

Public Testimony Opportunities:

Many Public Testimony opportunities for the coming week are not yet on the schedule. If you are interested in a bill moving through the process and want to know when the next opportunity for public testimony is, please contact the LIO.
